CROSS-REFERENCE UNDER 37 C.F.R. § 1.821(e); AND STATEMENT UNDER 37 C.F.R. §§ 1.821 (f) & (g)

Paper Copies of the Sequences

Paper copies of the sequences may be found in the specification at pages 44-52.

Cross-Reference to Computer-Readable Form under 37 C.F.R. § 1.821(e)

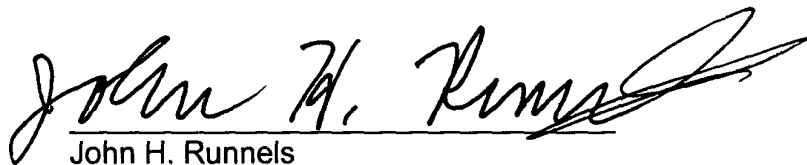

As permitted by 37 C.F.R. § 1.821(e), in lieu of submitting a computer-readable version of the sequence listings, reference is made to the computer-readable form that was submitted on May 21, 2001 in the "parent" application, S.N. 09/381,879, 35 U.S.C. § 371 date September 24, 1999. The Office is respectfully requested to use the May 21, 2001 computer-readable form from S.N. 09/381,879 in this application. The paper copy of the sequence listing in the present application is identical to the computer-readable copy of the sequence listing submitted in the "parent" application (aside from certain bibliographic information such as that pertaining to serial number, filing date, and docket number).

Statement under 37 C.F.R. §§ 1.821 (f) and (g)

I, John H. Runnels, make the statements contained in this paragraph in connection with the above patent application under 37 C.F.R. §§ 1.821 (f) and (g). Both the present application, and the computer readable sequence listings submitted in the "parent" application, were prepared under my supervision, the latter through use of PatentIn software obtained from the Patent and Trademark Office. To the best of my knowledge, information, and belief, the sequences contained in those computer readable sequence listings are the same as those in the paper copy which is part of the specification of the present application. Nothing in this submission constitutes new matter.

Respectfully submitted,
